

Explanation at the elements:

1) Name of the program.
2) Navigation button to other programs, print button to a pdf, help button for more information
3) Academic year being chosen, dropdown allows you to choose a different one
4) Sort button to sort the courses for different options. And a language selection option
5) The bullet figure gives an overview about the past of the subject. A blue dot indicates that the course was not found as instructive, a green dot indicates that it was. The current year's bullet is the largest. If there is no bullet, the course was not evaluated in that year. In addition to the course description, period and code, the credits are also shown, and e.g. 1st indicates that most of the students who took this course were freshmen. By clicking on this area, an overview of the course for multiple periods appears
6) Response information, more information by clicking on it
7) Course results grades, more information by clicking on them
8) Other relevant questions, more information by clicking on them
9) The course report excluding teacher information, for a detailed report

In general, the colors in the dashboard are explained when clicking on them. For example:
